

CALL FOR ARTICLES

Pallavan Learning Systems (PLS) is an educational research organization that specializes in creating education centres of excellence with innovative learning spaces and systems so that learning takes place seamlessly.

PLS is working tirelessly to bring in diverse ideas and thoughts in the realm of education and learning. It strives to achieve (w)holistic development of an individual through the Five Areas of Development model. We feel this approach that focuses on the Cerebral, Emotional, Physical, Social and Spiritual development of a child has borne rich dividends in actualising our learners' potential. You can find more resources on our research & publications at our website.

Pallavan Learning Systems would like to provide a platform to those with distinct perspectives on education and learning through our proposed e-book. The intent of the e-book is to collate innovative and valuable thoughts on education and learning and share it with the larger audience for the benefit of society.
